Yellow warning
Thunderstorm

Between
11:00 Fri 13 Jul 2018 and
20:00 Fri 13 Jul 2018

Many places will be dry, however there is the potential for heavy and slow-moving thundery downpours in places.

What to expect

- Some flooding of a few homes and businesses is likely, perhaps leading to some damage to buildings.
- There is a good chance driving conditions will at times be affected by spray and standing water, leading to some minor journey delays.
- Some short term loss of power and other services due to lightning strikes is possible

Further details

Heavy showers, which will most likely become thundery in places, are expected to develop quite widely across parts of England and Wales later Friday morning and through the afternoon. Some of the showers are likely to become focussed into slow-moving bands, particularly over southwest England, with some locations receiving around 20mm in an hour. As is the nature of showers however, many places within the warning area will miss them altogether, and have a dry day.
